ABSTRACT

Bugs fascinate children, and each kind of bug plays a special role in the circle of life. Some bugs pollinate plants, while others help to decompose plant and animal waste. In this videotape, students learn about the similar characteristics that all bugs share and compare them to their close cousins, the arachnids. This videotape correlates to the following National Science Education Standards for Life Science: characteristics of organisms; life cycles of organisms; and organisms and environments. This videotape is accompanied by a teacher's guide and a hands-on student experiment. (CCM)
